Snafu Means Elections Will Be Held Tuesday

Toledo Minister To Address Senior Baccalaureate Service

Baccalaureate service will be held Sunday, June 8, at 2:30 p.m. in the university auditorium. Faculty and seniors in academic robes will enter to the strains of the march from the "Occasional Oratorio" by Handel played by Miss Myrtle Jensen, assistant professor of music.

A Cappella choir directed by Dr. J. P. Kennedy will present two numbers. "To Thee We Sing," from liturgy of the Russian church, was arranged by Tschalkowsky. "Dark Cloud, Cover the Sea," an Egyptian spiritual by Deane Shure, features a solo by Patricia Sanguinetti.

Toledo Minister Speaks

Reverend Sidney Mayer of the Epworth Methodist church of Toledo will deliver the sermon. Pastor Mayer came to Toledo last year after serving several years at the First Methodist church of Cuyahoga Falls. He was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university in 1917 and attended Garrett Theological school.

Following the sermon the A Cappella choir will sing two more numbers. They are "Let My People Go," a Negro spiritual arranged by Scott with a solo by Marion Banning, and "Beautiful Savior," a melody from the 12th century arranged by Christiansen with a solo by Dorothy Ashbrook.

Employment Bureau Needs Staff Help

All students interested in working on the Student Employment bureau staff next year may report to the bureau office in the Ad building any time this week, according to Sal Giudice, director.

The constitution of the Student Employment bureau is one of those recently approved by Student Senate to provide permanent service on the campus.

In the semester report just released by the bureau, statistics show that 323 interviews have been arranged and 221 positions filled satisfactorily. Of the 240 students who are on file in the bureau office 192 have been placed in positions, some in as many as fifteen temporary jobs.

Seniors Will Rehearse

Seniors will rehearse for commencement in the Men's gym Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Caps and gowns will not be needed.

Guest tickets will be given out at this time.

Senior Speaker

Dr. Henry Hitt Crane

Dr. Crane Speaks At Commencement

Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, pastor of the Central Methodist church in Detroit, will be the commencement speaker at the 1947 graduation exercise to be held in the Amphitheatre Thursday, June 12, at 2:30 p.m.

Dr. Crane is no newcomer to university campuses, having lectured to well over a hundred different academic institutions from Maine to California. Since taking over his present pastorate in 1938, he has identified himself with many important community enterprises.

He is a world traveler, having completely circled the globe during 1936 and 1937. The trip took him to approximately forty different countries and gave him the opportunity to meet and talk to important world figures.

Mailing Planned Soon For Alumni Magazine

The summer edition of the university Alumni magazine is being mailed this week. A 20-page issue, dedicated to the members of the graduating class, it was printed by N. R. Millham of McComb—a veteran of the Okinawa edition of Yank magazine.

The spring edition of the magazine is being printed in the Graphic Arts department.

Error Lies With Vote Committee

Responsibility for the errors which voided the all-campus elections last week has been accepted by the committee of elections headed by Dick Harig.

Phil Hodes, candidate for student president, admitted that he took part in counting ballot but testimony of John White, a member of the committee, cleared Hodes.

White testified that Hodes could not have tampered with the results of the Senate race. He was a teller only for an amendment to the Association of Women Students constitution and the sophomore presidency.

As a result of the protest against the conduct of the elections last week Harig has resigned as chairman of the election committee of Student Senate.

Bill Wagner will replace him as acting chairman for the election tomorrow assisted by Don Kinnaman and Bill Fisher.

Hodes Wins Action in Court To Throw Out Early Results

Election of Student Senate and class officers will be held all day tomorrow in front of the Ad building auditorium. Results of the election held last week were invalidated by Student Court as in violation of the constitutional provisions at a special session Wednesday night.

Protests Vote

Phil Hodes

A brief against the committee of the elections was prepared by Phil Hodes, announced as victor in the presidential race, who requested that all of the results be thrown out. He contended that use of ballots without provision to insure that only members of each class would vote for the officers of that class violated Article VI, section 2.

On the Senate elections two points were charged and upheld by the court. Candidacy of Al Veitmier, successful in the three-way contest for treasurer, was found illegal since she will not be a junior as the constitution requires for that office.

The number of invalid ballots in the all-campus election due to lack of proper instructions to the voters combined with the faulty supervision and tallying of the vote to invalidate the other Senate results.

Correct Vote Planned

In the elections tomorrow several suggestions by the justices will be implemented. All the classes—sophomores, juniors, and seniors of next year—will use separate ballots for the election of class officers. All students, including present seniors, will use a uniform ballot for the Senate elections.

Preferential votes will be used throughout as required by the constitution to avoid election of candidates who have pluralities but not majority support. Candidates for office will not be allowed to participate in the work of the elections committee.

Candidates in the elections tomorrow will include all of those who ran last week except those found ineligible upon further investigation by the committee. Hodes and Zimmerman will battle for the job of president, Marion Banning will be the only candidate offered for vice president, Beth Neikirk and LaVerne Fitzgerald will contest the task of secretary, and Glenn Knerr will race Sabina Slichinski for treasurer.

Newman Jobs Open

Catholic students interested in working on the various committees of the Newman club next year should send application to Sal Giudice at East hall listing experience and type of work desired.

Stoner and Bellerjeau Resign From Campus Fellowship Jobs

Reverend James Stoner, Student Christian Fellowship director since October 1945, will resign his position at the end of the summer session to take up duties as national director of the University Christian Mission of the Federal Council of Churches.

Payment of Fees Will Begin Today

Payment of summer registration fees will begin today and continue until Monday, June 16, according to the business office.

Veterans who will attend summer school may obtain identification cards in 217 Ad building between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. starting today according to the following schedule.

Names beginning with the letters: A through G, Monday, June 2; H through N, Tuesday, June 3; O through Z, Wednesday, June 4.

Veterans should fill in I.D. card blanks, including name and school address, then pick up completed registration cards at the registrar's office and bring them to the business office windows.

Non-veteran students must obtain completed registration cards from the registrar's office and present them to the business office for payment before June 17 to avoid a $5 late payment fee. Any students contemplating a change in schedule should pay fees on June 16.

Mary Bellerjeau, who has been Reverend Stoner's assistant this past year, is also leaving SCF. Her fellowship, granted by the Danforth Foundation for one year, has expired and she now plans to do further student religious work or recognition work in Europe. As Reverend Stoner's assistant she held an in-training job to contribute to and learn about SCF and religious programs on other campuses. She has traveled to a number of Ohio campuses to view their religious programs.

Reverend Stoner will locate in New York city, but he will spend much of his time visiting some 40 colleges and universities throughout the country planning and directing religious emphasis weeks such as was held at Bowling Green this spring.

how to vote right

Delay of the senate and class elections until tomorrow, due to inaccurate ballots should result in more valid votes cast.

Each voter should familiarize himself with the candidates and with the preferential type of ballot which will be used. Once understood the use of a preferential ballot is hardly more difficult than just marking an "x"—and as an expression of the voter's choice it is far superior. He merely marks figures 1, 2, 3, and so on for his first, second, and third choices. The counters do the rest of the work.

If the candidate a voter has chosen first has too few votes to stay in the race, his ballot continues to his second choice and on up until either one candidate has obtained a majority or the ballot lists no further preferences. A major advantage of this system is that no votes are thrown away and yet chance does not determine the continuation of the ballot as in the Hare system from which it is adopted.

To assist the committee tellers, the Senate ought to exercise the power to require aid of campus groups. Of course preferential ballots—the only way to avoid coalitions and obtain majority votes in campus contests—are complicated. But such a group as Pi Sigma Alpha, recently installed political science honorary, should be able to assist the committee of elections in the work required.

snafu on elections

traced to student body

by John Fay and Dick Price

Some mild excitement has been aroused among the student body because student court action invalidated the elections held last Tuesday. The election was so incompetently handled that it seems as if there was just nothing done right. But there are a lot of extenuating circumstances. Dick Harig, chairman of the elections committee, was already overburdened with too much to do as senior and senate president and did not get the cooperation from the committee members that he should have gotten. The senate apparently ran up against the same thing that a lot of campus organizations have found troublesome—nobody willing to do their share of the work to be done.

It would seem on the surface that a lot of crooked politics took place, but after a careful examination we are not so sure. Both Zimmerman and Hodes, candidates for presidency of the student senate, were guilty of unethical conduct. When one candidate hands out the ballots and the other one helps count them, it would seem that something "fishy" was going on. However, it was the court's decision—and we are inclined to agree—after being confronted with the evidence that neither candidate had any ill intent in mind.

A lot can be said for Phil Hodes' side of the story. Noting that Harig was even having trouble rounding up tellers to count the votes, Hodes jumped in and helped out. While he certainly should have known better, his action in one sense could be commended since he really was taking the place of some member of the committee who apparently didn't consider the elections important enough to even be present at the time of the counting.

In fact, tellers were actually recruited from students passing by in the halls. Most of them had no more ideas of how to count votes under the preferential ballot system than the man in the moon. The fact all candidates' names were placed on the same ballot was also inexcusable and invalidated all class elections.

While the whole business was very definitely a black eye for student senate and the committee on elections, our other branch of student government, student court, showed through its decisions, recommendations and quick action that it is an organization upon which the student body can depend.

Pirates End Dance

Eating Bacon 'n Eggs

Those brave souls who resisted the lure of outgoing busses to attend the Beta Sigma's invitation to a Dawn dance Friday morning (4 a.m., that is) were rewarded with a bacon and egg breakfast.

The pirate clad guests entered the cave built in the Laboratory school gym via a low tunnel and were given rubber pirate knives as souvenirs.

Star-Gazer Shares

Doctorate Awards

The world's foremost amateur astronomer and a member of the Ohio Supreme court will receive honorary degrees at commencement. The degree of doctor of science in astronomy will go to Leslie C. Peltier and the degree of doctor of juridical science to Judge Charles B. Zimmerman.

Mr. Peltier has discovered 10 comets and two stars. For each comet he has received a Donohoe medal from Astronomical Society of the Pacific. The Peltier comet of May 14, 1936, is the brightest since Halley's of 1910. For it the Star Observers gave him its first Merit Award.

Born and reared on a farm near Delphos, he attended high school only three years. A Christmas gift book interested him in stars and at the age of 16 he picked 900 quarts of strawberries at two cents a quart to purchase a two-inch telescope.

Later his father helped him build a $100 observatory on an upland meadow. Princeton university lent him his present six-inch telescope. A toy designer by day, Mr. Peltier has made 70,000 observations of variable stars and sends the observations regularly to the Harvard university.

Pet Beau Enlivens

Foster Home Life

Smaller than any other pet on campus, "Beau," alumni Ruth Foster's parakeet, is only the size of a sparrow. His sky blue vest and black and white speckled coat add to his colorful personality.

Just nine months old, Beau is already an established member of the household. He is permitted to frequent any part of the apartment his heart desires and shows appreciation of the privilege by remembering not to slam the door of his cage when he comes and goes. Instead he carefully places his claws on the door and pushes it gently closed behind him.

An energetic little fellow, Beau passes his time twirling dimes, thimbles and anything silver he can get hold of. When given a toothpick, he imitates a typewriter by sliding it through his beak.

Beau's chief diet consists of paper and Lovebird No. 2. When dinner rolls around he flits about the kitchen helping Ruth decide what to cook by jumping vigorously up and down when something he likes is taken out. He has found a new resting place now, when he tires of flying, it's Ruth's big toe on which he gets many a free ride.

Beau is the perfect guest entertainer and if you ever come to visit, don't be surprised if he greets you at the door by flying up on your hair, his way of saying Hello.

Little can be expected from the entering freshmen for the freshmen rule will again be in force making a year residence mandatory before competition.

Handicapped last season by the lack of experience the Falcons were able to garner only two wins but with a year of competition under their belts they are expecting a much better record in the fall.

Kent Game Cancelled

The baseball game scheduled with Kent State for last Thursday was cancelled due to rain. Since it was so late in the season no attempt was made to reschedule.

The squad fared well when Michigan Normal from Ypsilanti visited the local course and absorbed a 19-8 defeat at the hands of the Bowling Green squad. Halter was medalist for the match with a near-par 75. Meredith Davis was right behind him with 77.

The trip to Youngstown also proved fruitful when the Falcons downed the men from Youngstown college in a close match 11½ to 8½. It was the first and only defeat for Youngstown on their home course. Halter cracked out a 74 to again take medalist honors.

Coach Fred Marsh looks forward to an even more successful season next year with very few of his squad leaving.

Toledo Netters Smash Hopes For Final Win To Close Season

Bee Gee's tennis team tried hard to finish the season with a victory last Saturday but couldn't quite swing it going down, 6-3, before a powerful Toledo Tennis club squad on the Bowling Green courts.

Bud Bailey, Toledo university ace and runner up in the Ohio Conference tennis tournament a week ago, and his two brothers, Paul and Dean, had the situation well in hand most of the afternoon. Falcon victories came when Olson won over Dean Bailey, Kemp Jenkins toppled Paul Bailey and the Connor-Thompson duo defeated Paul Bailey and Schneider in the double match.

Earlier in the week Coach Clyde Parker's netmen traveled to Kenyon and suffered an even worse defeat at the hands of the men from Gambier. The final score was 6-1 as Bob Calas marked up the only win when he defeated Thomas of Kenyon.

Coach Parker offered no excuses for the poor showing of the team this year.

"Inexperience was the deciding factor in a great many of our matches," he stated. "We should definitely look forward to next year with only Monroe graduating."
